

Creative Director: Madison Morris

Designer: Nitzia Davalos-Reyes

Snoopy Microsite

Things that are working well:

- Typeface selection
- Organization of information on the History and Peanuts pages
- Simplicity on the homepage

Changes to make:

- Adding images; for the Peanuts page, I think the png cutout like on the homepage would be nice for all of the characters
- Imagery of the specific NASA objects is important
- Can treat the Fun Facts page a bit more like a comic strip; rectangles to organize information; would like to read them back and forth (left-align, next line is right-aligned, etc.) or in a grid that has each rectangle varying in scale/placement
- Subheading information on NASA could match the margins of the rest of the text; the wide spacing is a little difficult to read
- The titles for each individual page are kind of competing with the main Snoopy title; either vary the scale so the difference is even more obvious or alter the alignment

Optional / Might be nice to see:

- If you want to add color, red would be a good choice
- Sketch designs in the margins could be nice; low opacity so they don't distract
- Nitpicky, but the navigation bar seems off-center